'Time running out to find new home'

'Less than a year before Archaeology Trust must move' (Camberley News 10.7.14)

'Archaeology visit for MP'

(Star/Courier 10.7.14)

These were the headlines a few weeks ago after Michael Gove had paid us a visit; we certainly got a few heads turning!

If you'd like to see what is actually happening and how we are preparing for the move next year, then come along on Sunday.
Better still find out how you can help us in preparing for the move.

Currently we have 2 projects in hand:

The first is checking and making ready the Iron Slag held in the Wet Room which will be moved to Fort Cumberland in the next few weeks.

(It doesn't look like this anymore!)

The second project is checking and cataloguing the iron slag from Site 38 (42 London Road) to also go to Fort Cumberland and then to process the other materials from Site 38 so as to streamline them and have them in readiness to move to storage rooms behind Bagshot Library.

As you can see we are actively doing archaeology, so now's the time to come and help out.
